10. Propósito general del curso

Este curso electivo presenta una visión general de los principales temas sobre el desarrollo político latinoamericano y su compromiso global actual. La principal pregunta que esperamos responder es: ¿por qué ha sido tan difícil lograr la democracia y el desarrollo económico en la región? Nos centraremos principalmente en Chile, Argentina, Perú, Uruguay, Brasil, Colombia y México.

El curso se dividirá en tres partes. El primero se centra en los legados históricos, económicos y políticos que pueden haber retrasado el proceso de democratización y desarrollo económico. desarrollo de la región. La segunda parte del programa se centra en los principales actores políticos (colectivos e institucionales) involucrados en la arena política de América Latina y sus esfuerzos para promover (o suprimir) la participación política. El último apartado del curso se centra en América Latina en el ámbito internacional y sus proyecciones políticas y económicas en el mundo, especialmente con Estados Unidos, la UE y China.

11. General purpose of the course

This elective course presents a general overview of the main issues on Latin American political development and its current global engagement. The main question we hope to answer is: why have democracy and economic development been so difficult to accomplish in the region? We will focus mainly on Chile, Argentina, Peru, Uruguay, Brazil, Colombia and Mexico.

The course will be divided into three parts. The first one focuses on historical, economic and political legacies that may have deferred the process of democratization and economic development of the region. The second part of the programme focuses on the main political actors (collective and institutional) engaged in the Latin America political arena and its efforts to promote (or suppress) political participation. The last section of the course concentrates on Latin America in the international arena and its political and economic projections in the globe, especially with the US, the EU and China.

19. Metodología de Enseñanza - Aprendizaje

- This course will be conducted entirely in English. It will be understood that you have a good command of listening, reading and writing in the English language. This course will be developed in a seminar scheme, where different professors will give lectures on each of the topics of the course. The course will be supervised by Professors Dockendorf and López.

- The course will be completely online using the zoom platform and will have a Synchronous / Asynchronous modality. The main lecture lasts one hour with 15 minutes for questions. This class will be recorded for all students in order to solve time difference problems (Santiago, Chile UTC -4). Through the course webplatform, students will be able to ask general questions about the course or questions related to a particular lecture. A teaching assistant (TA) will be available to solve your problems.

20. Metodología de Evaluación

- The Introduction to Latin American Politics course will be evaluated by a single final research paper on a specific topic covered in the lectures. At the beginning of November, the course coordinators will send you between 10 to 15 questions from which you must choose only one question and answer it. The student is to address the question as specifically as possible and should remember that a detailed historical background is generally not necessary. The paper does not need to make an unconditional yes/no argument, the line of reasoning may be nuanced and should address counter-arguments.
  - The paper is to be carefully researched and documented; at least 25% of cited works should be required or recommended readings from the lectures and at least 25% from other readings. Not only direct quotes but also paraphrased text and ideas taken from a source must be quoted. No more than 2 sentences should be taken wholesale from a single source.
  - Remember that the University of Chile recommends using the APA Style Guide.
  - Length: a maximum of 1,700-2000 words (roughly 5-7 pages) excluding bibliography.
- Deadline: Last class of the course.

21. Requisitos de aprobación

The minimum grade to pass the course is 4. In Chile, the evaluation scale ranges from 1.0 (min) to 7.0 (max).
